TYPOGRAPHICAL BULLS.

Literary Gems Unconsciously Produced by the Intelligent Composer.

A New Brighton editor wrote a notice about the Port Wayne road, but it appeared "Fish Wagon road."

A New England paper told about "a drove of hogs floating down the Connecticut river," instead of "a drive of logs."

An Atlantic paper, in a comprehensive editorial situation in a comprehensive editorial and headed it, "Let Us Explore." He neglected to read the proof, and it appeared under the caption, "Let Us Explode."

A resident of Worcester, Mass., tried to advertise for a false-colored bull-terrier pup, which had strayed away from home, and learned by the next day's paper that it was a "fire-alarm bell-tower key" he had lost.

A noted Chicago divine preached a sermon in which he used the quotation: "And he saw Abraham afar off, and Lazarus in his bosom." The printer set it: "And he saw Abraham afar off, and a horse's ears in Boston."

In a lecture at Tremont Temple, Boston, Henry Joseph Cook asked his audience: "Was St. Paul a Dope?" In a report of the lecture Mr. Cook was made to propound this startling conundrum: "Was St. Paul a Dope?"

An Indiana paper found it necessary to publish the following correction: "For 'burglar meeting' in the heading of the article in our last issue relating to the proceedings of the town council, read 'regular meeting.'"

Whittier's "Brewing of Sonnets" figured in a Cincinnati paper as the "Burning of Laura," and another paper of that city, wishing to bestow "a word of compliment" on a local performance, managed to give publicity to a word of complaint.

It was a Boston newspaper which made its dramatic critic say: "The toast for Irving, like the toast for olives, must be cut elevated." What the critic wrote was: "The taste for Irving, like the taste for olives, must be cultivated."

A young clergyman in a Western town sent a notice to the local paper that he would deliver a sermon on "The Relations of Ministers to Their Parishes," and he was surprised the next day to learn that the compositor had changed his subject to "The Relations of Ministers to Their Parishes."

Not long ago a Western Union telegraph operator found the words "orates fratres" in a special dispatch about the "praying brothers." It is not definitely known whether the telegrapher or the compositor attempted to translate the words, but it is certain they appeared in a Minneapolis paper: "Oh, rats, father."

Not long ago a novel depicted a pretty two-headed boy playing on the "green balcony" from hunters of curiosity and a few of dimmest museums. The boy was not such a natural phenomenon as he seemed, however, for a simple transposition of two letters had changed him from "a tow-headed" youngster into one with duplicate heads.

Another daily had occasion not long ago to say: "In the letter in last Friday's issue about ticket speculation in Berlin, in speaking of the Schauspielhaus, or theater proper, the copyist tried to write as the author did, that it was devoted to 'non-musical' dramatic performances, but the types made it 'non-sensical.'"

An editorial note in a recent issue of a Pittsburgh religious weekly is as follows: "A couple of errors escaped the eye of the proof-reader in an article under the heading: 'Notes of the Sea,' in last week's issue. Its fourth line of fourth paragraph it should be 'needs' and not 'deeds.' Near the close 'Captain Gardiner, for 'Captain Gardiner.'"

The types usually make their errors "nonsensical," as was the case when a St. Louis paper said: "The stay at Indianapolis provided a relief from the monetary which is inevitable on a thirty-hour cautionary journey."

The writer wanted to say: "The stay at Indianapolis proved a relief from the monetary which is inevitable on a thirty-hour cautionary journey."

UNSUBSTANTIAL SOLES.

Cubbling That Was Good Enough for a Corps, But Not for a Live Drummer.

Two traveling men recently stopped at the Tiff House, says the Buffalo Courier.

One of them had on a pair of boots very much worn through the soles, and he thought he would get the men and have them patched. The friend of the cobbler was going to Tonawanda the next day to call on a merchant and he wished to be well dressed. He had only the one pair of boots and his friend agreed to take them to a cobbler while he remained in his room until they were patched. The friend of the cobbler told him he must have the boots that evening. The cobbler said he could not mend them so soon. "Oh, but this is a case of necessity, the man is dead and we want to put a decent pair of boots on him. We've got to take the boots out of town."

The cobbler finally promised to have the boots done, and had them ready when the drummer called in the evening. His friend slept peacefully and the next morning put on the mended boots feeling that he could look the whole world in the face. It was quite a walk from the railway station at Tonawanda to the office of the merchant he sought, and he had not gone half the distance when to his astonishment and wrath one of the new soles came loose and slipped about as a man dislodged a nail. The gentleman sat down by the roadside and found that the rascally cobbler had just pegged a strip of leather over the old sole. He hammered it with a stone as best he could and shuffled on with the shoe. He had to be held by the merchant and had to walk all through the works with him, during which the other sole came loose, and he managed to conceal the trouble until he got away, when he hammered the boots together again as best he could and returned to Buffalo. He showed the boots to his friend and asked if that was the way in which the Buffalo cobbler usually did their work. His friend was as indignant as he was, and taking the boots, rushed round to the cobbler's shop, shook the articles in his face, and asked what he meant by palming off such work on people. "Why," said the disciple of St. Crispin, "I told you I couldn't mend the boots in so short a time as you gave me, and besides, you said the boots were for a dead man, and I thought that a bound sole was unnecessary. What sort of a dead man was it?" he asked, in a pained manner, "that would wear out a pair of boots walking around in them? He must be awfully lively for a dead man. If he had still, as any respectable dead man should, the boots would have never broken," and with this explanation the traveling man had to be content.

Store clerk—"A hammock, miss! Certainly. Here is one warranted to sustain a weight of 250 pounds." Young lady (sighs)—"Two fifty; let me see. John weighs 164 and I weigh 125—five and four's nine, with nothing to carry; two and six are eight, with nothing to carry; one and one is two; total, 239. (To the clerk.) Well, that's mighty near, but I guess it will do."

SNAILS AS FOOD.

Where the Molluscs Are Considered a Delicious Article of Diet.

A Wiltshire correspondent writes us in some amazement, says the London Standard, that only last week he found a man searching for snails, not as zoological specimens, but as articles of food. Still more extraordinary, he actually praised them. Simply roasted on the bars of the grate and eaten with pepper and vinegar they are declared to be toothsome. Soaked in salt and water and then cooked and served after the fashion of whelks and periwinkles they are still better. As winter the land shells, like snails, are hibernating in holes, under leaves, and in the hollows of trees. As all the species in a torpid state lay on a load of fat before retiring for the winter, the snail seeker, though possibly he did not quite understand the reason why, was of the opinion that it was only at this period of the year that the molluscs are fit for human consumption. Here, most likely, he was wrong. But at all events, in supping freely on such dainty fare, the Wiltshire gourmet has proved himself a great deal more sensible than many people who may be inclined to call him hard names, and then proceed to swallow a dozen raw oysters and a piece of cheese so swimming with parasites that if the latter were unanimous it would walk off the table.

Wiltshire is, however, not singular in possessing a man above the prejudices of his neighbors. In several parts of England there is a regularly held snail feast, as an ordinary article of diet, but at stated feasts. For instance, the Newcastle glass men were famous for their taste in that direction. Every year they held a sort of gastronomic festival, at which snails figured as the principal dish. Whether the custom has since fallen into decay is a question on which, no doubt, local information is to be had.

But we believe that the iron-pudders in some parts of the Black country are wise enough to still indulge in the same daintily, and it is by no means uncommon to hear of snails boiled in milk being prescribed, like the viper broth of Carolean times, for patients far gone in consumption. It is less agreeable to know that at one time they were employed in the manufacture of imitation cream and that in spite of analysts and acts of Parliament they are even yet bruised and stewed in milk to form one of the tolerably palatable articles which pass under that name.

In the neighborhood of Dixon a small farmer has been known to clear $1,500 per annum from snails, the vine-growers keeping them in dry cellars or in trenches under coverings of leaves and earth, and from certain "escargotieres" near Ulm, in Wurtemberg, more than 10,000,000 of the vineyard snails are sent every year to other gardens to be fattened before they are dispatched for the use of the Austrian converts during Lent. From Troyes it has been calculated that snails to the value of $100,000—the wholesale price being 4s per 100—are forwarded to the Paris markets. Packed in casks they are also exported in a small way to the United States.

A WOMAN'S ADVICE.

She Tells Her Sisters How to Fascinate Their Husbands.

Many women lose the love of their husbands because they are too ignorant or too indifferent to keep it, observes a female writer in the Louisville Courier-Journal. Ask any of your friends how they captured their other half, and they will tell you frankly: "I don't know." A man's heart is "enslaved by a pretty hand, nice teeth, a round low voice, frank eyes, beautiful hair; by the way a girl who talks, plays, rides, puns, by her gifts, her smiles, her amiability, good taste, generosity, or the very manner in which she greets, fascinates or abuses him. She may not know how she won him, but if she doesn't know how to keep him, the best thing for her to do is to find out. An early temper in a trial that few women rest have to be learned by experience. Conscious of her abilities and inequalities as a wife, a wise woman will learn how to keep a husband just as she learns how to keep a house, to make chicken croquettes, choicest of bread, or some legume, and if she doesn't, why, some siren will for all time relieve her of the trouble. Men like to preach down extravagance, and style, and dress; but the woman who bangs her hair, wears a blotch or scar under a piece of court-plaster who wants pretty gloves and stockings, prim slippers, perfumes, balms, cold creams, finger curls and fancy notions to increase her charms, is the woman who is admired by them all. Common sense and ugliness may be morally what a woman is, but they're not alluring, and art is apt to triumph over nature unadorned. If a man is fond of flattery, let him have it. If he has ambitions or schemes, listen to him with open eyes of wonder, and, no matter what the occasion is, never permit your knowledge to exceed his. Men despise smart women, but have no fault to find when her talent is large enough to appreciate his greatness. Men like to be looked up at, depended on, quoted and referred to. Conscious of her abilities and inequalities as a wife, a wise woman will learn how to keep a husband just as she learns how to keep a house, to make chicken croquettes, choicest of bread, or some legume, and if she doesn't, why, some siren will for all time relieve her of the trouble. Men like to preach down extravagance, and style, and dress; but the woman who bangs her hair, wears a blotch or scar under a piece of court-plaster who wants pretty gloves and stockings, prim slippers, perfumes, balms, cold creams, finger curls and fancy notions to increase her charms, is the woman who is admired by them all. Common sense and ugliness may be morally what a woman is, but they're not alluring, and art is apt to triumph over nature unadorned. If a man is fond of flattery, let him have it. If he has ambitions or schemes, listen to him with open eyes of wonder, and, no matter what the occasion is, never permit your knowledge to exceed his. Men despise smart women, but have no fault to find when her talent is large enough to appreciate his greatness. Men like to be looked up at, depended on, quoted and referred to. An early temper in a trial that few women rest have to be learned by experience. ## 5 O'CLOCK EDITION.

THE Journal resents the criticism of the GAZETTE in its gibe at "actual settlers," induced by an article published a week ago and says it has been the devoted friend of Nevada for twenty years. That is very true. The Journal's efforts for this State are matters of history and no one could say the contrary, even if they desired to detract from its well-earned reputation, which we certainly do not. The GAZETTE stands right in with the Journal and every one else who can help this country in any way, but the Journal is one of the public institutions of the country, and when it gets off on the wrong foot the GAZETTE exercises the prerogative of the press and criticizes it as it would any public office or any public man in a similar case. When the Journal tried to defend Gen. Powning's statements made in a former letter, we made no comment, feeling that his spirit was natural; but when we saw repeated editorial notes like that of Saturday, saying some of the Oklahoma boomers better come to Nevada and become "actual settlers," and that of Tuesday saying, "Among some of the tramps coming west there ought to be some 'actual settlers' for Nevada," we felt that it was a mistake and an injustice and said so. We need not now discuss the land question, but will say as we have always said there are hundreds of sage brush sections where grain can be raised more successfully than in Colusa county or on the west side of the San Joaquin, and there are very many dozen well watered quarter sections still unsurveyed and unimproved.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., is soon to decide the question of prohibition on a local option basis, and to ascertain how it is viewed where it has been tried, letters were some time since sent to the Mayors of many cities in the different States. Those of seven or eight cities in Kansas, a prohibitory State, reply that the law has not put a stop to drinking, and that intoxicating liquor is largely used in the State, into which it is brought under all kinds of subterfuges. The Mayors of St. Paul, Minn.; Davenport, Ia., and many other places, in some of which the law in operation, say that prohibition does not prohibit, but that high license discourages crime by abolishing its usual resorts, and encourages temperance by reducing the temptation to drink.

THE steel cruiser Chicago was put into commission last week. She was launched shortly after the Democratic Administration took office and has been tinkered at ever since—a specimen of Democratic dispatch. Ex-Secretary Whitney did some very good work, but he was dreadfully slow about it. Secretary Tracy wanted to know at once why this fine ship was not in service instead of in the hands of the navy yard bosses. His business-like ideas regarding pushing and completing long-hanging jobs, and cutting red tape are said to have stirred a good many department fossils out of their slumbers.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY newspapers are complaining of the delay of the Government surveys, as though the rapid filling up of the Territory depended upon the announcement that so many more acres are open to cultivation. There are about fifty million acres in the Territory, and at last accounts about 300,000 people, or say 60,000 heads of families. If each one worked a 160-acre farm less than 10,000,000 acres would be in use, and a great many more could find homes on the lands already surveyed. But it seems they want a California boom to stir them up in the Territory.

It seems that the snobs and bunglers who have in charge the centennial ball have managed to insult the whole foreign diplomatic corps, who have very properly decided not to attend.

It is asserted that in San Francisco there is a saloon or place where liquor is sold to every 80 inhabitants.

NEVADA is not an ash heap.

OVERLAND CHANGES.

A Few More Federal Appointments.

TRENTON TREASURE RECOVERED.

An Anti-Jesuit Organization in Canada.

BOULANGER INTERVIEWED.

The Chinese to Extend the Peking Railroad.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCHES TO THE GAZETTE.]

Overland Changes.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25.—It is announced by the Southern Pacific and Union Pacific people that the Golden Gate special will run its last trip, leaving this city, on Saturday, May 4. A new overland passenger train will be put on the Ogden line Sunday, May 5, and be the fastest regular daily train ever run between this city and the East. Leaving San Francisco at 6:30 P. M. daily, it will arrive in Omaha in three days, in Chicago in three days and nineteen hours, and in New York in four days and twenty-one hours, or twenty-six hours shorter than at present made by any single overland train. It will be a limited train and carry only first-class passengers.

Becoming Alarmed.

MONTREAL, April 25.—The anti-Jesuit meeting held last night was in session until midnight. The whole question was considered, and the action of the Dominion Government and the Provincial Legislature were freely discussed. The impression seemed to be that a crisis was at hand, and that it became Anglo-Saxons to prepare for the blow which it was felt must come. Charlton, a member of Parliament, said there was no hope of preserving intact the French language and institutions if the present state of affairs continued; that the church of Rome would soon possess two-thirds of the Province.

A Step in Advance.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Blaine has nearly recovered. The races and ball game were postponed on account of the rain.

Consul Smithers at Tientsin, has reported to the State Department that the Chinese Government has authorized the extension of the Tientsin and the Longshan Railway, which will make it possible to reach Peking from Tientsin in three hours, whereas it now requires as many days. The Consul says that China may now be said to have fairly entered upon a career of railway construction.

Boulanger Interviewed.

LONDON, April 25.—In an interview with Boulanger, he reiterated his disavowal that he had any intention of precipitating a war between France and Germany. Nevertheless he did not consider the future of France settled forever by the war of 1870. He declared that he would never consent that France should be insulted. He is anxious to cement France's friendship with Russia and England.

Proposed Consolidation.

TORONTO, April 25.—The conference of ministers of the Anglican, Presbyterian and Methodist Churches to consider the question of the organic unity of all Protestant bodies closed last night. After a full, free and harmonious discussion, it was recommended that the churches appoint delegates to another conference to be held next year.

Federal Appointments.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The President has made the following appointments: Dr. Daniel Dorchester of Boston, Superintendent of Indian Schools; Warren Truitt of Dallas, Or., Register of the Land Office at Lake View, Or.; and Thomas B. Baldwin, of Folsom, New Mexico, Register of the Land Office at Folsom.

Treasure Recovered.

AUCKLAND, April 25.—The treasure which was aboard the United States warship Trenton when wrecked at Apia has been recovered. The Nipsic will be brought to Auckland by the United States steamer Alert.

A Surgeon's Victim.

ST. LOUIS, April 25.—L. U. Reebis, known throughout the country as a persistent advocate of moving the Capitol from Washington to the Mississippi valley, died from the effects of a surgical operation.

Will Court Debate.

BERLIN, April 25.—The Gazette says that the Government, instead of avoiding debate in the Reichstag on the Samoan question, it will give every facility for such debate at the earliest possible moment.

A Poor Showing.

BOSTON, April 25.—The statement of the Union Pacific for three months, to March 31st, shows in the gross earnings a decrease of $883,000, and in the net earnings a decrease of $267,000.

Official Reinstated.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—J. O. Culver of California has been reinstated as Postoffice Inspector on mail depredations.

A Big Combination.

ST. LOUIS, April 25.—All the breweries of St. Louis and East St. Louis except two, have consolidated. Eighteen breweries are concerned.

The Centennial Ball.

NEW YORK, April 25.—The sixteen ladies who will dance in the quadrille of honor at the centennial ball, according to the Tribune, have at last been determined upon as follows: Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, Mrs. Levi P. Morton, Mrs. Grover Cleveland, Mrs. Grace King, Mrs. Alexander Van Rensselaer, Mrs. W. Bayard Cutting, Mrs. William Astor, Miss Cora Livingston, Mrs. Newbold Morris, Mrs. Elbridge T. Gerry, Miss Lonisa Lee Schuyler, Mrs. Buchanan Winthrop, Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, Mrs. William Jay, Mrs. S. V. B. Cruger and Mrs. Alexander S. Webb.

A gentleman who is abundantly qualified by his connections with the Centennial Celebration Committee to speak advisedly, told a Tribune reporter yesterday that the trouble with the Diplomatic Corps over invitations to the ball, instead of having been settled satisfactorily as stated in a recent document issued for publication by the Centennial Committee, had become so serious that the principal members of the Corps had finally and positively refused to come.

"Not a member of the Diplomatic Corps," said he, "will be in attendance at the ball, with the possible exception of the Brazilian Minister, Baron Deita Juba, or in his absence, Senor Jose Augusto Ferreira Decosta, Secretary of the Legation." The trouble with the Diplomatic Corps originated in the omission by the Entertainment Committee to include to foreign Ministers invitations to the ball for the ladies of their families as well as for themselves.

Railroad Collision.

BALTIMORE, April 25.—The vestibule limited, from Philadelphia, and the evening express for Philadelphia, on the Baltimore and Ohio, collided this morning at the foot of Howard street. Several employees were injured. It is understood that Vice-President Levi P. Morton was on the latter train.

The only person seriously injured was engineer Milbourne of the west-bound train, whose leg was crushed. Among the other distinguished persons on board were General Scofield and staff and General Wood of Ohio and staff. All were going to New York. Both baggage cars were shattered.

A Suicide Club.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., April 25.—The suicide on Monday of John Kiewitz, a wealthy German, served to bring to light that there has existed for several years a secret organization known as the Suicide Club. Four of its six members have suicided.

Charged With Fraud.

LONDON, April 25.—Viscount Mandeville was charged in the police court today with fraudulently obtaining about $5,000. The magistrate did not enter into the case, and the hearing was adjourned.

Opium Caught Him.

BUFFALO, April 25.—Fred Beyers, the champion pool player, was found dead outside a Chinese opium joint this morning. Two Chinamen were arrested. Beyers had been "hitting the pipe."

Steamer Arrivals.

NEW YORK, April 25.—The steamers Trave from Bremen and the Germania from Liverpool, arrived to-day. LIVERPOOL, April 25.—The steamer Iowa from Boston arrived to-day.

A Heavy Penalty.

HARTFORD, Conn., April 25.—The House has passed the bill making it a penal offense to make or sell oleomargarine or any other imitation of butter.

Postponed Games.

CHICAGO, April 25.—Ball games at Washington, Brooklyn, Baltimore, Kansas City and New York were postponed on account of rain.

Hanged for Murder.

CHARLESTON, S. C., April 25.—Caesar Frazer, colored, was hanged this morning for the murder of Holdenberg, white, on February 9th.

Bar silver, 92 3/4.

Death of Spofford.

RUTLAND, Vt., April 25.—H. B. Spofford, the historian, died yesterday. Bar silver, 92 3/4.

Temptation Removed.

An exchange says the Southern Pacific Railroad Company is closing up the saloons in has been conducting along its route, and we understand the refreshment booths on the boats are also to go. The idea is to remove from the company's employees, upon whom the lives of thousands daily depend, all temptation to drink. The traveling public will be obliged to carry "pocket pistols" if the refreshment of the innkeeper is desired.

Man Wants a Tonic.

When there is a lack of electric energy in the system, shown by a sensation of languor and unrest in the morning frequent yawning during the day and disturbed sleep at night, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters infuses unwonted energy into the enfeebled and nervous, endowing them with muscular energy, an ability to overcome nervousness, headache, biliousness, impaired appetite and a feeble, troublesome stomach are all and speedily set right by this matchless regulator and invigorant. The mineral poisons, among the trichina and not to be confused, are never safe to take, even in infinitesimal doses. The Bitters answer the purpose more effectively, and can be relied upon as perfectly safe by the most prudent. Fever and ague, kidney troubles and rheumatism yield to it.

The 70th anniversary will be celebrated on next Friday evening, April 26th, at the Nevada Theater, by a grand literary and musical entertainment and banquet. All Odd Fellows and every member of their family are most cordially invited. Exercises will commence at 8 o'clock.

BREVITIES.

Local and General Intelligence.

Read the local matter on the fourth page.

Oregon has very many tourists this Spring.

A special vestibule train passed east last evening.

The passenger travel on the N. C. & O. road is good.

J. Ferguson and family of Churchill county have moved to Reno.

"F. C. Updyke is kalsomining Thyres' wholesale liquor house."

"One old drunk" was the report of Justice Young this morning.

I. N. Bakless moved into his new house on Mill street, South Side, today.

The stock ranges of Montana are reported to be suffering from a lack of moisture.

Taylor, White Pine county, seems to be losing quite a percentage of its population this Spring.

A wedding and shooting scrape in Johnsville, Plumas county, this week made times lively.

The name of the Postoffice at Ingrams, Sonoma county, Cal., has been changed to Cazadero.

Correspondents of the GAZETTE are respectfully requested to confine their manuscript to one side of the sheet.

The Mayfield, Cal., band, composed of twenty-six pieces, serenaded Mr. and Mrs. Stanford last Tuesday evening.

E. M. Thompson has commenced work on his new residence on the corner of First and Bell streets, Pownir's Addition.

David Powell, a farmer 50 years of age, living twelve miles from Stockton, Cal., was killed in a runaway last Wednesday.

The members of the Fish and Game Club are requested to meet at the office of Pierce Evans this evening, for the purpose of organizing, at 7:30 o'clock.

The Illinois Central Railroad has reduced its force in Iowa to such an extent that only four regular trains run where formerly there were ten, and on three divisions there is not a brakeman on the road who is not an ex-conductor.

Rev. G. W. James of Long Branch, Cal., who has been charged with the grossest immorality, has been suspended until the meeting of the Annual Conference of the Methodist Church, when, if one per cent. of the charges are proven, he should be vigorously bounced.

LOW WATER.

Prediction that Water on Truckee Meadows will be scarce.

The Truckee Republican of the 24th inst. says: The Truckee Lumber Company is experiencing a great difficulty in making a drive of logs this year. The fact is, there is but little water in the river, and it is not likely that there will be much more. The gates of the dam at Lake Tahoe have been closed for a month, and the lake has risen only a foot, as the stream running into it are discharging a very small volume as compared to former years. This is not sufficient to make a flood to drive logs, and the lake ought to be raised a foot in order to make a successful drive. The present outlook is very discouraging, and it is possible that the mill may have to suspend operations for the Summer. Further than that, it is possible that there may not be enough water to run the factory after July. The ranchers around Reno will have to go without water for irrigation purposes this year.

A Cold Day.

The street sprinkler was on duty yesterday. All Hail!—Enterprise.

When a street sprinkler can squirt water under a heavy pressure and have it all hail by the time it hits the ground, it would seem to indicate a very low state of temperature on the Comstock.—Carson Appeal.

Coming Towards Reno.

The two parties of surveyors have met near Mohawk. It is reported that one will return to Chat and survey a line towards Reno.

Notices.

The engine house bell will ring at 7:30 o'clock this evening. A full attendance of No. 1 is commanded. By order of the Chief Engineer.

Madden Changes of Weather cause

 The color of the meals to be seen on the books of John Fraser's market shows that he deals only in the best, and that he handles no injured or diseased cattle.

Electric Bitters.

This remedy is becoming so well known and so popular as to need no special mention. All who have used Electric Bitters sing the same song of praise. A purer medicine does not exist and it is guaranteed to do all that is claimed. Electric Bitters will cure all diseases of the liver and kidneys, will remove pimples, boils, salt rheum and other affections caused by impure blood. Will drive malaria from the system and prevent as well as cure all malarial fevers. For cure of Headache, Constipation and Indigestion try Electric Bitters. Entire satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Price, 50 cents, and $1 per bottle at Hodgkinson's drug store.

It was maintained by the late Horace Greeley, that "nothing succeeds like success." If this be true, Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will always be popular, as it never fails. It is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough, and is undoubtedly the best and most reliable medicine in use for those diseases. It is decidedly a success. For sale by Osburn & Shoemaker.

This is the season of the year when the raw, cold winds create and have with the hands and complexion. Soft, white hands and a clear "peachy" complexion can be assuredly preserved by the frequent application of Dandridge's Specific. If rubbed into the skin well it leaves no greasy film. The skin absorbs it. Sold by William Fintinger.

It should be generally known that Dr. Henry's Dandelion Tonic induces a hearty appetite and increased digestion, dispels nervous depression and low spirits, overcomes lack of energy and weakness, and will infuse new life and strength into the weakest invalid. Sold by William Fintinger.

A Consumptive Incurable? Read the following: Mr. C. B. Morris, Newark, Ark., says: "Was down with Abscess of Lungs, and friends and physicians pronounced me an incurable consumptive. Began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and now on my third bottle, and able to overcome the work on my farm. It is the finest medicine ever made." Jesse Middleton, Decatur, Ohio, says: "Had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption I would have died of lung trouble; was given up by doctors; am now in the best of health." Try it. Sample bottles free at Hodgkinson's drug store.

A BRILLIANT GATHERING.

A Charming Wadsworth Belle Led to the Altar.

Who Were Present and How They Were Dressed.

The wedding of Miss L. Angus (daughter of Judge Angus) and E. J. Culver, which took place on Wednesday evening, April 24th, at Wadsworth, was the event of the season. The young couple are well known and possess a large circle of friends. The marriage was solemnized at Union Church in the presence of about 300 people. At 8 o'clock the organ pealed forth the wedding march, which announced the approach of the bridal party which entered in the following order: The ushers, Messrs. Buckland and Ritchie led the way, followed by Miss Taddie Doane and T. Clark, Miss Lillie Nicholls and G. Culver (brother of the groom). After them came the fairy bridesmaid, little Bess Whited, followed by the bride leaning upon the arm of the groom. The fairy maid opened the flower gates, the bride and groom passed through and stood under an arch composed of lovely flowers, from the centre of which rested a pair of white doves. At the altar they were met by Rev. J. Protzman, who performed the sacred rites and soon pronounced the happy couple husband and wife. At the conclusion the fairy maid led the party from the church, resting for a second for the convenience of the photographer and his camera. Many of the friends remained to view the flower decorations in the church. Notice among the decorations was a pyramid of lovely flowers reaching from the altar to the ceiling.

A reception was held at the residence of the bride's parents, where congratulations from fully two hundred friends were received. An elegant supper was spread, and with sweet music the evening passed only too quickly.

THE BRIDE

Was becomingly dressed in cream nun's veiling and moire; her hair was dressed high, and a spray of natural orange blossoms confined her long tulle veil; she carried a bouquet of natural orange blossoms, from which hung long ends of moire ribbon, and white gloves completed her toilet.

Miss Taddie Doane looked charming in a director's costume of cream cashmere, with the front of the skirt smocked and studded with seed pearls with vest to match; her short sleeves were met by long gloves of white undressed kid; her fan suspended from her shoulder, and she carried a bouquet of maiden blush roses, with a large corsage bouquet to match.

Miss Lillie Nicholls, a petite blonde, was handsomely arrayed in a director's costume of cream albatross, with the front of the skirt of lace; she wore a melissa collar and carried a bouquet of maiden blush roses, from which hung long ends of cream ribbon; she also wore a corsage bouquet, with her fair hair dressed high, and undressed kids of white, her toilet was complete.

Little Bess Whited wore a dress of cream tulle, with cream ribbon and apple blossoms for trimmings; golden slippers encased her tiny feet; her cream lace mitts reaching to the shoulder and were held in place by bows of cream ribbon, while on her arms she carried her hat filled with fragrant roses and lilies; suspended from her shoulder was a fan of flowers, and I will here add that three prettier maid attendant upon a bride could not be found anywhere, and they are all Nevada born girls—Miss Lillie Nicholls, daughter of W. Nicholls; Miss Taddie Doane, daughter of Wm. H. Doane of Carson; Bess Whited, daughter of Superintendent J. H. Whited.

RENOITES IN SAN FRANCISCO.

And What They are Doing for Themselves.

Wells Drury is on the Examiner.

Prof. C. S. Young is in Middleton & Sharon's real estate office, 22 Montgomery street, trying to brace up the boom that should have struck Butte county ere this, but failed to connect. He is putting in his spare time trying to work up land in Merced.

C. S. Preble is Secretary of the Pressed Brick and Terra Cotta Co., and is located at room 31 in the Flood building on Market street. His land boom has flattened out for the present at least, so he is trying to turn an honest penny in the brick line. The GAZETTE wishes his success.

Billy Barnett, a son of Tom, is book making on Eastern horse races and on the track as well. He won $2,600 on Saturday last at the Bay District races and is doing very well. Ah, his brother, will graduate from Hastings' Law College in June and will most likely hang up his shingle in the city.

G. A. Rankin has a fine law practice and is making money.

Election of Officers of the I. O. G. T.

Last evening the members of Fidelity Lodge No. 4, I. O. G. T., elected the following officers, who will be installed next Friday evening: W. C. T., C. W. Snow; W. V. T., Lena Joy; W. S. W. L. Cox; W. T. T., Emily Gilman; W. F. S., Belle Stanley; W. C. T., Mrs. A. J. Taylor; W. M. O. Tredway; W. L. G., Ida Mages; W. O. G., C. Painter; W. S. J. T., Lottie Mages; Organist, Mitchell.

An Artesian Venture.

From A. D. Wood, who came in last evening from Long Valley, a GAZETTE reporter learned that the artesian well being sunk on James Miller's ranch has attained a depth of 441 feet and is now in blue clay, under which they expect to find a strong flow of water. At a depth of 315 feet they struck a flow of petroleum which ran for three hours, when it apparently became exhausted.

A Valuable Work.

The GAZETTE is in receipt of the "Monthly Weather Review" of the Nevada Weather Service, prepared under the direction of Prof. C. W. Friend of Carson by Henry F. Alciatore. It is replete with all the weather observations from all parts of the State, and is a valuable work. It will be issued monthly hereafter, and will be a welcome visitor.

"The Little Tycoon."

"The Little Tycoon" Opera Company, which will be seen here Monday evening, comprises fifty-two people and orchestra, the latter under the direction of Charles Borgman, a musical director of great renown. You should engage your seats now, for it is well worth the money.

Held to Answer.

Pat McCarran, examined in Virginia City yesterday for shooting an Italian sheep-herder on the Truckee river a few days ago, was placed under $2,000 bonds to await the action of the Grand Jury.

A Fortunate Druggist.

Mr. Edwin W. Joy for many years and now a prosperous druggist on the corner of Stockton and Market streets in San Francisco, probably never dreamed of rivaling in wealth the medicine kings of the country. But various rumors having been floating around to the effect that he has struck it big, an Examiner reporter was detailed to research the case, and after much difficulty unraveled the following story:

It seems that about seven years ago an English physician, a great student of botany, located in this city. His practice was not extensive, and yet the few cases that came to him attracted no little attention. His success seemed to be in the treatment of liver and kidney disorders, and vitiated blood. In fact his ability to cope with these common complaints was marvelous. He seemed almost infallible, and his quiet modest methods and his well-kept secret was as much a mystery as himself. After his departure about a year later Mr. Joy determined "to know the secret," and copying all the prescriptions he had filled for the erratic doctor he began a systematic analysis. In his examination he discovered running all through the prescriptions for liver and kidney troubles, vitiated blood and stomach disorders a couple of vegetable extracts indigenous to California, so simple and so well known under honest every day as nut to every school boy as to entirely dissipate the suspicion that they were the active principles involved. So certain, however was Mr. Joy that he had discovered the secret, that he embodied the new elements in a preparation of Sarsaparilla to disguise the taste, and put it before his customers under the modest name of Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla. Immediately the same marvelous stories came back of its astonishing effects, and the mystery was solved, and the talk it has created has already caused it to step into prominence, and orders pour in daily from all over the coast. And thus another California industry leaps into existence.—S. F. Examiner.
